

The Off Road FMC

What few people know is how far ahead the FMC motor coach group was thinking. The proposal was for a mid-engine motor home that was capable of going off road. This was way ahead of the modern day SUV and its comfortable off road abilities. The former president of the FMC motor coach division, Earl Anderson, has stated that his one regret while managing the division was that he didn't listen to the engineers and killed the off road motor home concept. Looking at it from today's perspective, he wonders what may have been! So do we!
